

NATIONAL COMMISSION ON PRODUCT SAFETY

1010 16TH STREET, N.W.
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20036

382-5534 (202)

August 28, 1968

Dr. Joshua Lederberg
Department of Genetics
Stanford University School of Medicine
Stanford Medical Center
Palo Alto, Calif. 94304

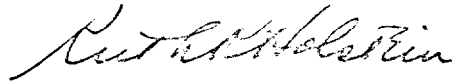

Dear Dr. Lederberg:

When I wrote you previously about the Occupational Safety and Health Bill, you answered that you had been interested for a long time in accidents as a major public health problem.

The National Commission on Product Safety, for which I now work, is looking into untold numbers of accidents caused by hazardous household products. The Commission is a temporary Government agency created by the 90th Congress.

Perhaps you might find this Commission and its purposes worthy of one of your excellent columns. If you should have any questions or need additional information, please contact me at the above address or telephone number.

Sincerely yours,

(Mrs.) Ruth K. Holstein
Information Officer

Enclosures

SEP 11 1968

THANK YOU. I hope you will continue to keep me informed on your routine releases.

Are you considering a broadside approach such as I recommended (with guns particularly in mind) in the attached column?

HOLSTEIN